Police club protestors to 'Let's get 'em' cry

By MICHAEL WIDMER

BOSTON (UPI)—Club-swinging police staged bloody forays Thursday into antiwar demonstrators who tried but failed to shutdown a government building.

A three-hour peaceful stand-off between 4,000 antiwar demonstrators and 1,000 riot-clad police was shattered shortly after noon (EDT) when police—without warning—swept protesters from in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

Police used bullhorns about two hours later to announce they would try to clear the crowd. They paused briefly, then swarmed into the group, wielding clubs.

Some injured protesters were treated at the scene by antiwar medics while others were helped away. At least one policeman was hurt.

The first two-phase sweep pushed the demonstrators 40 yards from the JFK Building on one side and more than 100 yards onto City Hall Plaza on another side. The second sweep drove them back even further.

The midafternoon sweep seemed aimed at clearing the area before federal workers left their jobs for the day. The earlier charge was designed to open the antiwar ranks so federal workers could enter or leave the 28-story building.

About 70 persons were arrested in the first charge and the total went past 100 after the second assault, police reported.

"Let's get 'em," a policeman yelled, starting the first move against a crowd of 1,000 in front of the building. About two dozen police started the charge and were reinforced by another 80.

8 demonstrators arrested

"All we are saying is give peace a chance," they sang—and into the cells they went.

Eight antiwar demonstrators, five of them students on this campus, were arrested Wednesday in downtown San Luis Obispo on counts ranging from obstructing traffic to disturbing the peace to resisting arrest.

The eight:

Richard Lee Birchler, 25, senior biological sciences major and Raymond Honore DeGroote, 21, junior social science major, arrested at 5 p.m. for obstructing traffic at Garden and Higuera;

Michael N. Steff, 18, Thomas Sandercock, 21, junior journalism major, and John Merrel Coe, 20, arrested at 5:10 p.m. for obstructing traffic in the 900 block of Monterey;

Eugene Warren Clark, 19, sophomore natural resources management major, and Stephen J. Crummy, 22, arrested at 6 p.m. for disturbing the peace and resisting arrest at Osos and Walnut;

Paul Anthony Castiglioni, 21, junior industrial technology major, arrested at 7 p.m. for disturbing the peace.

All have been bailed out of jail. Bail for Clark and Crummy was $625; Castiglioni's was $135. All the others paid $315.

The eight were part of a group of two dozen who demonstrated against the war in Vietnam by marching downtown, urging shoppers and store owners to close down shop to show disagreement with the Indochina conflict.

They marched to Bank of America at Osos and Higuera and went inside, chanting, "give peace a chance," and accused the bank of being part of the war machine.

The arrests of the eight were made by the city police with the aid of sheriff's deputies. Officers said those arrested for obstructing traffic were marching back and forth across the streets, stopping in the crosswalks and shouting at the drivers of cars.

The eight will appear before the magistrate within ten days.

Yesterday the demonstrators again descended to the downtown area following a campus rally that was held in the College Union plaza. Downtown the demonstrators met at Mission Plaza and then proceeded to circle the business area of San Luis Obispo.

About 72 protesters joined the march and proceeded to the Bank of America, Crocker-Citizens Bank and the local Selective Service Board.

The whole time the demonstrators were under heavy police surveillance. There were no arrests in the second demonstration.

The protesters moved through the middle of the Bank of America twice.

Rubbish rubs reef wrong

"Pollution and ecology are great words—kind of like motherhood used to be," Dr. Lee Tepley, of the Lockheed Palo Alto Research Laboratory addressed 100 people on campus Wednesday night.

Tepley, head of the Oceanographic Group of the Physical Sciences Laboratory at Lockheed, spent the day on campus as a part of the American Geophysical Union's Visiting Scientist Program. Hosts for his visit were the School of Engineering and Technology and Sigma Xi Club.

Tepley, who is a physicist rather than a marine biologist, showed two underwater films, one untitled, and the other "Cloud Over the Coral Reef," which portrayed the dramatic spread of pollution and consequential disintegration of coral reefs off the Hawaiian coast.

The recent increase in dumping of raw sewage into the ocean has stimulated green bubble algae to overgrow and virtually disintegrate many of Hawaii's coral reefs, which were beautiful underwater gardens only three years ago. The coral reefs have been a major attraction for divers and tourists, and their destruction is resulting in a sharp blow to the tourist trade.

Although students on this campus can't do much about Hawaii's pollution problems, Tepley stressed that similar problems exist all along the California coastline. He did not specify particular problems.

"Most marine biologists don't feel strongly enough about it (pollution) to do anything about it," Tepley said of his contemporaries. For this reason he appeals to students and the general public through his underwater photography hobby, to take up the fight against pollution. He urges students to pester the government to enact and enforce effective anti-pollution laws, and allocate reasonable amount of money for meaningful research in the area of ocean pollution.

'Strange Love' concert

"For me, a concert is like making love to a thousand people at one time. It's exceedingly exhausting, but it's terribly fulfilling. One good show can keep you going for a week."

That's who you're getting next Friday, Jennifer. The former star of "Hair" will be in concert at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym with John Stewart, the owner of some pretty profound folk.

Touring across the nation as a team, the Jennifer-Stewart duo have drawn raves from here to Maryland and never failing to pick up the pieces in between.

This is the first time the two have ever worked together. Their billing reads: "Strange Love Rite—Fun for The Entire Family." It's $1.50 for students and $2 for the public.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Watch out for the radical minority

Editor:

This is an open letter to President Kennedy and the students of Cal Poly.

Cal Poly is a conservative school, and we should be glad. The sad fact, though, is that not many of us conservatives are concerned enough about what the radicals are trying to do here. The radicals may comprise a small minority of possible votes (in the ASI elections, for example), but you had better believe that they try harder and never miss a chance to vote. It won't be hard for their candidate to grab a plurality, unless each of us cares enough to vote and keep the radical element out of student government.

President Kennedy, I would like to know how you feel about the boycott of classes. This letter isn't meant to give you a hard time, as some people here at Cal Poly are trying to do, but merely to ask you to expel those who want to "shut it down." Do you not have the power to find out who they are and to expel such people? This type of student, who obviously does not value his education, should be made to leave. There are plenty of applicants begging to take his place in the classroom.

Andy Lampenfeld

I'm tired of you politicians telling us who to kill. I chose the Fort Ord stockade instead of Vietnam in "their" war, and now I'm not going to join your army Lt. Rizzo. Maybe you haven't heard my shouts at the peace rallies. I was just one of the faceless crowd that you were so busy radicalizing. My shout was no more war—not yours, not Nixon's, not anybody's. NO MORE WAR!!

Time to cease violence as a solution to ills

The following is an open letter to Dr. Fred Rizzo. Dr. Rizzo: Tom Hayden said that the history of America is a history written in blood and that the Vietnamese war is just the last chapter. Too often the traditional American answer to problems was and continues to be violence—I'm afraid this is your answer too. It's time again to call for an end of violence.

The Vietnamese war is 25 years old, American involvement has passed the 10 year mark at a cost of 45,000 American and hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese lives. Now you want to bring the war home—go to hell Rizzo.

Some students 'forgotten'

Editor:

There was a meeting held last Wednesday for Asian students. This meeting was held in order to foster better understanding among all Asians on campus. At this get-together a report of the Tiao-Yu Tai Island incident, the status of the Foreign Students tuition and what is being done to stop this increase were given. Also the Asian student's involvement in the recent anti-war rally in San Francisco and the accomplishments of other Asian College Organizations were presented by people who were there. The meeting was not to endorse or condemn any of these issues, but rather to bring to light that Asians are very much a part of today's society.

I feel that the Mustang Daily has done a very minimal role in meeting the needs of the Asian students here. The foreign born and American born Asians have been, in a very subtle way, quietly forgotten.

This meeting did open some new channels of communications and now it is up to us to take advantage of this. Before we are recognized by others, we better come together and recognize each other.

A picnic has been planned for next month, and an informal rap session will be held off campus on Tuesday, May 4, at 9 p.m. For more information, call 544-2389.

About 'frenzied states'

Editor:

This letter is in response to the article written on the Chambers Brothers concert, Friday, April 30. I would like to ask Mr. Modica a question; what sense is there in having a concert if no one can enjoy it? Music has been one of the most accepted ways of communication for many years, why destroy it?

I was standing near the center of the stage enjoying what Mr. Modica implied as an uncontrollable crowd in a state of frenzy. If he feels by limiting the number in the crowd and by having only small time bands, is a way of controlling crowds, then why have an concerts at all?

I thought part of a college education was getting the best out of the system that is possible. It sounds like Cal Poly is becoming a private institution. It is a misfortune when a few "nobles" have the right to preside over the activities of responsible students. As long as I am paying student body fees

I was told prior to the concert from the ushers that the reason for roping off the front of the stage was for safety reasons and that only officials and photographers were allowed inside. If this is true, why were the photographers chased out about twenty to thirty minutes prior to the "state of frenzy?"

FFA goes it

Delegates from 240 chapters of the California Association, Future Farmers of America, have gathered on campus for the 43rd annual state convention of the association.

Lee Pitts, state FFA president, stated that more than 800 members, parents and guests are expected to attend the convention.

President of FFA and a former California State President, addressed the opening convention.

Other highlights include the "Best Informed Chapter" contest to be conducted by John Searna, producer of nationally televised Agriculture U.S.A. program, presentation of state farmers and the announcement of proficiency awards.

Davki D. Hurford of the Sears Foundation addressed the annual banquet last night.

An additional 1,200 FFA members will participate in the state judging finals to be held here on Saturday, May 8.

Superteacher

Nominations for the Distinguished Teacher Award at this college are now being accepted by the Chairman of the Distinguished Teacher Award Committee.

For those students interested in nominating a teacher they should include the name or names of those submitting the nomination and the reasons for the recommendation. Nominations should be sent to Chairman, Distinguished Teacher Award, Department of Psychology. The deadline for nominations is May 7.

Sun, moon and the stars

The following is provided as an Astrological Forecast according to your Sun Sign for the period between Friday, May 7 and Thursday, May 13.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—You have a strong sense of individuality (which can lead to egotism), and the ability to crusade. You are impulsive, sometimes almost reckless, and need to cultivate moderation.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—You have a strong sense of values, (which can lead to over-possessiveness) and the ability to build and stabilize situations you are involved in. You are conservative, almost to the point of recklessness, and need to cultivate adaptability.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20)—You have a strong sense of awareness and the ability to communicate with a high reasoning power. Your dual nature, however, sometimes leads you to be inconsistent. You need to cultivate concentration.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22)—You have a strong sense of attachment and the ability to nurture and protect those you care about. You are cautious, almost to the point of timidity, and very emotional. One thing you should try to develop is a more logical point of view.

Leo (July 23 to August 22)—You have a strong sense of dignity, which may lead you to be vain or imperious, but also have the ability to inspire faith. You are of a pleasure-loving nature and perhaps should concentrate on developing a little more humility.

Virgo (August 23 to September 22)—You have a strong sense of service and the ability to analyze situations well. You are practical and conscientious (sometimes bordering on finicky). You need to work to cultivate tolerance.

Libra (September 23 to October 23)—You have a strong sense of justice and the ability to negotiate. You are diplomatic (which others may perceive as insincere), but are also susceptible to wavering and are easily influenced. You need to develop more decisiveness and consistency.

Scorpio (October 24 to November 22)—You have a strong sense of self-control which may manifest itself in repression. You are strong-willed, however, and reserved (sometimes to the point of being secretive, suspicious, and resentful). You need to develop a right direction for your aspiration and energy.

Sagittarius (November 23 to December 21)—You have a strong sense of perspective which enables you to react quickly. You are honest, and can sometimes be considered blunt; impulsive, sometimes to the point of being flighty; and speculative. You need to cultivate restraint, sincerity, and thought for others.

Capricorn (December 22 to January 19)—You have a strong sense of reverence and duty and the ability to utilize, conserve, and organize. You are dependable, but tend to become self-absorbed, and practical, although somewhat uninspired. You need to develop more sociability.

Aquarius (January 20 to February 18)—You have a strong sense of principles and are truth-seeking. You have interest in and the ability to reform and plan, and are highly intellectual and humanitarian. You do need to cultivate, however, a little more warmth and practical ability.

BROWN, OTHERSMarks sought

The Mustang track team will send some of the nation's best to the West Coast Relays weekend. The meet, billed as "where world records are broken," is in its 44th running at Fresno State's Radcliffe Stadium. Action begins today at 10:30 a.m. with the running of the pentathlon.

Outstanding among this college's entrants is Reynaldo Brown, 1968 Olympic competitor who transferred from Compton Junior College. He'll be out to set a new College Class record in the high jump. The current mark was set in 1969 by Fred Jackson of Hayward State, who jumped 6-10. Last week, Brown took the honors at the San Jose Invitational, clearing 7-0. His best outdoors this season is a 7-1. He has a 7-2 1/4 to his credit indoors, but was unable to compete in the NCAA Indoor Championships due to a technicality.

Reynaldo has a novel trick in his bag of many. As an exercise he uses to warm up, he leaps skyward and touches his toe to the goalpost crossbar, a mere 10 feet above ground.

"I first started doing it in high school," Brown related. He says its purpose is to "help me keep my lead leg straight, which is essential to a good high jumper."

Girls battle

While the big boys have been practicing, so have the girls. All the bruises and groans will pay off tomorrow night in the Girl's Powderpuff football game.

The game will feature the freshman-sophomore girls seeking to knock over the junior-senior girls. The battle starts at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in Mustang Stadium at a cost of 50 cents to the public and is sponsored by Block P.

Girl thinclads

The seventh annual girls' and women's track meet sponsored by California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (CAPHER) will be held tomorrow on the old track starting at 11:30 a.m.

Colleges from as far south as San Diego and north as Salinas will participate in the meet that will have several high schools and junior highs, also. Several of the schools will have coaches who are graduates from this college.

The Mustang girl thinclads will be after Cal Poly Pomona to gain the title this year. Last year the Broncos defeated the Mustangs by only ten points, 159-149.

Riders seek bigger lead

The Mustang rodeo team, with a 1200-point lead on the Western Regional championship of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, will travel to Flagstaff, Ariz., tomorrow and Sunday. This will be the first meet for the riders since their Poly Royal victory.

Coach Bill Belford announced the men's team roster will include Melvin Dick, Larry and Tom Ferguson, William Freeman, Jerry Colle and Jim Ingram while Larry Hay will be the alternate.

The women's team will include Sharon Gill, Colleen Simas and Mardy Juhl.

Northern Arizona University is hosting the meet.

Bronco series holds key hopes to diamond playoff

Though the goal of winning the conference championship is about forgotten, the goal of winning 40 or more games and being chosen for the regional playoffs is very much alive despite Tuesday's double loss.

The baseballers' chance comes today when they tackle Cal Poly Pomona on the Bronco's diamond. Tomorrow the two teams clash in a twin-bill. The three games will play a vital role in the Mustangs' final record and chances for a playoff berth.

The qualifications used in picking teams for the regionals seem to describe the Mustangs overall record, depth of pitching and overall depth of the team.

If the diamond men are selected for the regionals, they will have invaluable championship experience behind them from the Valley State doubleheader.

"We think it's very important for our baseball program and our players that we have participated in a championship situation. Once you've been there it is easier to be successful the next time you experience it. Experience breeds confidence."

"Because of this experience we should be a stronger team if we are chosen for the regionals. This is the one thing we have lacked on our ball club—championship experience. I feel it was the deciding factor on Tuesday, especially when we got off to a 5-0 lead in the first game," stated coach Augie Garrido.

One bright spot for the Mustangs against the Matadors was out-fielder Steve Freeborn. Not only did he deliver key hits but he also saved runs from being scored with his fielding. He robbed one Matador of a home run and threw another out trying for a double.
